INDUSTRY: Die & Mould

The die and mould sector requires a wide range of machining solutions to meet the challenges set by its customer base. The HCN series of machines are becoming increasingly popular, as the size of the working envelope is a crucial factor in machine selection. The HCN series combines large pallet sizes with a high rigidity construction capable of handling the power of a 40 or 50 taper spindle.

PRYMEGROUP

Pryme Group

Created in 2014 from a core of three engineering companies, Pryme Group is a relatively new name now focusing on three core areas – oil and gas, defence and aerospace. The close relationship with Mazak is clear as soon as you visit the new facility. In fact, the group recently acquired five new Mazak machines in order to enhance its machining capabilities.
